Effective application of Results-Based Management

To some, Results-Based Management (RBM) is a reporting requirement to be met by changing the language in reports. To us, RBM is a management approach to project planning, implementation management, reporting and evaluation.

Admittedly, to the uninitiated, RBM is time consuming and difficult to implement. Many trainers take participants through the theory resulting in awareness but not the competence to use RBM in project management. Ntuthuko Development Advisory Services (NDAS) offers a complete course with software training and on-going support.

Our RBM training achieves the following:

- Understanding of RBM
- Easy application with practical tools
- Improved results-based budgeting
- Integration of the planning and budgeting processes
- Single page access to your project information and reports
- Easy integration of your RBM tools into documents.

What we offer

Our RBM training consists of :

- A core course of six modules delivered over five days.
- A two day course on using mindmapping software for RBM project planning, human resources allocation, budgeting, Gantt Charts preparation and management of all project documentation.
- A two day course on the Work –Breakdown Structure (WBS) for those already familiar with RBM basics.
- On-demand support during RBM implementation (clients purchase a set number of days that are drawn down at specific times during RBM application).

Why our offering is better than anything else available..

We have been offering RBM training since 2004. We have offered RBM training to CBOs, NGOs and Regional Organisations. The reviews have consistently been positive.

We have sought-out the most user-friendly software that combines the power of visualization with functionality

Our system delivers the same functionality as MS Project but without the complexity.

Our system allows for participatory planning.

Our system allows you to plan, present visually, integrate into Word documents, and share your plans as interactive map.

Requires no more than a few days to plan projects like a pro.

Allows you to create a project dashboard from which you can access all your project documents irrespective of format.

There are other reasons too....

Once you have used our system, you will not write a single proposal or report without using it.

Take Action and Enjoy RBM!
